Not illustrated. 1921 Excerpt: . 4,100 bushels of wheat which was exchanged at the mill for 820 barrels of flour, more than sufficient to run us until the next harvest. We also threshed 3,500 bushels of oats. The dairy herd is maintained at 140 head and there are 200 hogs. The institution presents the appearance of a great big and fairly contented family, occupying a thousand acres which they regard as theirs. Colonies which at first seemed so distant as to render supervision difficult appear close now that we have become accustomed to the greater expanse. We greatly missed the counsel of Mr. Hoblit, farm and dairy consultant. In our efforts to restore our worn-out farm his cooperation was exceedingly helpful. His selection to manage the new penal farm, although depriving us of a much needed advisor, was a well deserved recognition. Stability of tenure on the part of employees has been unusual in these times of unrest. Dr. Waters, assistant managing officer, Dr. Knowles, senior assistant physician and Miss Brown, chief nurse have been continuously with us during the period. They have been persistent in ministering to the human side and an inspection will show that both the sound and the sick have received excellent care. Dr. Kelly, as full time dentist, has been able to give the teeth of our patients unusual attention. His report will show how much his services were in demand and makes us wonder how institutions with from three to five times our population...
