Here in brief are the main theses of Natural Religion. Supported by this basis of Natural Religion, and aided by the application of the criteria of miracles and prophecy, the enquirer is led to the further conclusion that there is one and only one true form of Supernatural Revelation, namely Christianity. In the following chapters an attempt has been made to reproduce in English form the classical arguments which are set forth in text-books of Apologetics written chiefly in Latin, French and German. The aim has been to avoid as far as possible technical nomenclature, so that Senior Students of Secondary Schools may follow the trend of the discussion. If such students are called upon to unravel the intricacies of the Differential and Integral Calculus set for B.A. and B.Sc. degrees, it is surely not too much to expect that the metaphysical principles which are the support of Natural and Supernatural Religion should have some share of their attention. In the development of the Apologetic argument, I desire to acknowledge my indebtedness to the Dominican work - Pere Garrigou-Lagrange s Dieu, son existence et sa Nature, and to another work of great merit, Foi et Raison, written by M. le Chanoine Valvekens. Whilst following these authors in the more formal and scholastic portions of their works, I have not hesitated to adopt another treatment if such appeared preferable.
