Excerpt: . . . then the good lady followed her husband, who, douce man, had slowly plodded before her on his way to the wee kirk. By the time she could overtake him he had bestowed his usual nod on the elder, and dropped his usual offering in the plate; when, hurrying after him, she was surprised by a tap on the shoulder from Davie of the plate, who thus addressed her: --Yell excuse me, mem, but theres a black puddin stickin on yere bannet! Sure enough, the unique ornament had dropped upon her head unobserved, and she had carried it through the streets, and was only prevented from displaying it in the eyes of the great congregation by the timely warning of the obliging elder. We are not informed how it was finally disposed of, but we may safely conclude that it found its way to the...
