Latrobe, Mayor, to the City Council of Baltimore: October 1st, 1877 Gentlemen: The term of the present administration is now near its close. The Municipal Government will soon pass into the hands of other public servants than ourselves; for this reason I desire, before the end of my official service as Mayor to send the following communication to your Honorable Body, giving a statement of the condition of some of the City Departments, and calling your attention to a few matters which I hope may prove interesting and suggestive. The New Assessment. Under the provisions of an Act passed at the last session of the General Assembly, a new assessment has been made of all the taxable property in the State.
